Indicators for the ERA
Policy needs and feasibility

Pierre Régibeau and Rémi Barré

We will present the key-results and proposals of the report of the expert group ‘ERA indicators and ERA monitoring’ established by DG Research. We will address in particular the issue of the conditions for building indicators fit for monitoring complex political processes.

We will also take stock of the recent debates in CREST, following this report, to set up the final choice of the ERA indicators. In conclusion, raise the issue of the way indicators can monitor a process such as the ERA building, characterised by the diversity of views of its stakeholders and its open-endedness.
